CONGRESS MAY PASS A REPUBLICAN TARIFF BILL.

McKinley Will Talk Protection in the South--The Government Irrigation Measure.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

The Senate, July 30th. (By the California Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 30th.--Senator Sherman introduced in the Senate to-day a bill to create land districts in the counties of Colfax, Mora and San Miguel, N. M.

Senator Blair introduced another to amend the act prohibiting the immigration and migration of foreigners into the United States under contract of agreement.

Senator Blair makes the penalties more binding and extends them to all concerned in any way.

Senator Teller made a favorable report on the bill to protect purchasers of lands in the vicinity of Denver, Colo., introduced by the Interior Department as lying within the limit of certain railroad grants and awards.

A number of private bills were introduced in the Senate this morning, after which the sundry civil bill was taken up.

Senator Allison offered quite a number of amendments of a minor nature, which were adopted.

The discussion over the amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $250,000 for surveys for irrigating reservoirs lasted till 5 o'clock.

The bill was amended by Senators Teller and Reagan, so as to keep the surveyed land in reserve and prevent its sale.

After more discussion, a vote was taken, and on the vote (18 to 29) the amendment was agreed to.

Senator Spooner offered an amendment for the construction of a public building at Alhambra, Cal., to cost $75,000.

This started another discussion, as the bill authorizing such buildings had not passed the House. Forty-seven public buildings bills that had passed the House, and the Senate was for placing all such bills on this bill.

The Senate went into executive session for ten minutes, and at 5:45 adjourned.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, July 30th. (By the California Associated Press.)

The House agreed to the report on the naval appropriation bill.

Reagan presented a resolution, which was adopted, ordering the Committee on Manufactures to continue the investigation of trusts during the Congressional recess.

The regular order was demanded. Payson of Illinois introduced a resolution authorizing all lands below low water, at the end of the session to be proceeded with in the Committee of the Whole, during the morning hours.

The House then, on motion of Burns, took up the general deficiency bill.

This bill was introduced as a public reservation certain lands in New Mexico containing valuable archaeological remains.

Clearly introduced a bill amending the interstate commerce law so as to equalize the rate on oil carried in barrels and tank cars and prevent oil from being shipped in the Committee of the Whole, during the morning hours.

The general deficiency bill was discussed in Committee of the Whole until 4:45 p. m., and recessive order was given as having come to no result on the bill.

On motion of Mills, a resolution was adopted changing the hour for convening from 10 to 12 o'clock.

Mills afterward made an attempt to set next August 8th, as the consideration of bills reported from the Committee of Labor, but on objections from Taubee it was not availed, and the House at 5 o'clock adjourned.

ARID LANDS.

The Bill to Establish Irrigation Reservoirs in Mountain Regions.

WASHINGTON, July 30th. (By the California Associated Press.)

Today Senator Bowen offered an amendment providing for an appropriation of $250,000 for the purpose of purchasing, constructing, and maintaining irrigation reservoirs in the arid lands of the United States.

In a speech on this subject, he said that all the available fertile land was now overworked, and it was time that attention should be directed to improving the arid lands.

Senator Stewart said that this measure was most important. He showed that the past two-thirds of the agriculture was done by irrigation, and it was to-day, and it was now time for the country to turn to the irrigation of the vast arid lands in the country. It is an easy matter, however, and most important, to turn to the irrigation of the vast arid lands in the country. It is an easy matter, however, and most important, to turn to the irrigation of the vast arid lands in the country.

THE TARIFF OUTLOOK.

Prospect of a Republican Bill Passing Both Houses.

[Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, July 30th.--The Republican Senatorial majority has been making quiet canvass of the House, with a view of ascertaining the voting strength the bill can secure there.

The result, so far, has been highly encouraging, and has been something already of an agreeable surprise to the gentlemen having it in charge.

From what has already been learned, the hope is expressed by a member of the Senate Committee that the Senate can send such a bill through over to the House that the Republicans there can, with the aid of a dozen Democrats, pass it and cheat the Democrats out of their own game.

The Democratic majority in the House is about fifteen, and some of these only such to leave the bill in the hands of the Republicans.

There are in the House a number of Representatives from tobacco-growing States, who have introduced the Senate bill, and it contains a provision for the internal revenue tax on tobacco.

This is the measure that the Democrats of the tariff question, The Mills bill passed a majority in the House.

When the bill is taken up in the Senate it will be made the continuous order from day to day until finally disposed of.

MONGREL BREEDS.

A New Feature to be Added to the Next Census.

[Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, July 30th. (By the California Associated Press.)

General William A. Rorer, of the War Department, has introduced a bill to-day to amend the census law, so as to include in the census the mongrel breeds of the human species, it is the superintendent of the census, and to ascertain and report the birth rate and death rate among pure whites, Negroes, and mongrel breeds.

He stated that the census of 1880 was the first time that the census had been taken of any description of the human race found in the United States, as well as mules, quadrupeds and octopods.

TO LOOK FOR STANLEY.

The Great Explorer's Where

The RECORD-UNION is the only paper in the coast, outside of San Francisco, that receives the full Associated Press dispatches from all parts of the world. Outside of San Francisco, it has no competitor, in point of numbers, in its home and general circulation throughout the coast.

The only benefit England ever receives from Irishmen is when they emigrate to America and vote for free trade. —London Times.

The London "Times," having a letter from President Cleveland in its possession, after quoting passages from it, editorially says: "It would hardly be possible to put the free-trade case more clearly or more strongly. The arguments which Cleveland uses are those which Cable used to employ forty-five years ago, and which any English free-trader would employ now. They are purely free-trade arguments, and as such we are glad to see Cleveland using them, though sorry for the popular infatuation which makes it dangerous to give them their right name."

HOW HE WAS CONVERTED.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean charged that Hon. R. Q. Mills, author of the tariff bill, has used language that justifies the indictment of the bill in the Republican platform; that is, Mr. Mills has said that "the purpose of the bill is to prepare the way for free trade." Assuming this to be true, and we have found the Inter-Ocean to be reliable, the defense proposed to be made, that the bill is not a free trade measure, falls to the ground along with the declaration that its purpose is simply reduction of revenue. The Inter-Ocean adds that one purpose of the bill is to make the South more solid by a free trade which would ruin most Northern manufactures, and to carry a doubtful Northern State by a Democratic assurance of protection to one article which Republicans have always included in their system of general protection. Connecticut is the State referred to, and the evidence of the truth of the charge is found in the change made concerning tobacco. This article is largely imported. The bill reduced the duty one half, originally. Tobacco-growers in the United States protested. Mr. Mills replied:

On the subject of tobacco we can not accept your request—34 cents per pound is high enough duty on tobacco; 75 cents is prohibition and no revenue, and we can not afford to destroy foreign trade in tobacco or any other article. The Sumatra tobacco is now smuggled in at 35 cents.

He thereto confessed that reduction of revenue was not the sole object of the bill, nor yet to "discourage the consumption of a questionable luxury." Later, Mr. Mills shifted his position and abandoned his declaration quoted above, for he consented to place the 75 cents he had declared would be prohibition. Sumatra wrappers come into millions of dollars worth of tobacco grown in Connecticut. Congressmen Vance of that State, from his place in the House, told Mr. Mills that without ample protection to that industry Connecticut could not be saved to the Democracy. Thereupon Mr. Mills, who had insisted upon free-living Sumatra wrappers, restored them to the duty side. He was not, therefore, converted from error by conviction, but was changed in the twinkling of an eye by partisan concern.

It has often been said that one can secrete himself more safely and securely from discovery in the heart of a great city than by fleeing to the wilderness or the fastnesses of the mountains. The truth of the saying has just been verified in Chicago. For several weeks two boys carried on in the very heart of that city the boldest thieving of fine horses and vehicles with apparent perfect indifference to the police authorities. They rented a stable, to which they took their plunder and from which they openly offered it for sale. Though complaints came to the police daily of fine rustlers and hand-some luggies having been stolen in the city, the officers appear to have been unable to trace the thieves or discover the property until a bit of luck in the pocket of one of the boys in robbing a blacksmith of his watch while repairing a buggy they had stolen a few moments before, brought the young rascals to grief and exposed their methods. Had those robberies been perpetrated in rural parts, and the thieves have gone into the wilds to establish their headquarters, the probabilities are that the hiding-place would have been early located and at least the road taken by the plunderers have been discovered. But in a great city like Chicago the difficulty of tracing the thief is vastly increased by the obstacles that in a densely-settled section naturally arise, for the facility with which a rascal may secrete himself is augmented by the very fact that he is in the midst of multitudes. Nor is it possible to devise any police system, short of espionage of the houses of every block in a city, involving unethical and unbecoming methods, or the testimony of officers, by which the thief may be as readily pursued in a city as in a thinly-settled rural. The undiscovered criminals of the great cities are to our countrymen those the authorities are unable to reach, fully four-fifths of all escaping the nets of justice and never appearing at the bar of any court.

A dramatist of some local prominence "paraphrases" the Record-Union, which, he says, while "engaged in the business of deceiving and misleading the people upon the questions of the campaign, has nevertheless the courage to publish the Mills bill as passed." We do not know that the Record-Union is entitled to any special commendation from Democrats for doing that which it was its intention from the outset to do as a matter of course. If our Democratic friends—several of whom express thanks for the publication—can draw any comfort from the Mills bill as passed, we certainly have no disposition to prevent them from doing so, but as the bill speaks for itself, and indicates the drift and drift of the Democracy at this time, we are glad to see it published. It is an admirable campaign document in the hands of Harrison and Morton. It is not often that two opposing parties meet so amicably upon common ground. The Democrats congratulate us upon publishing the bill as sent to the Senate, and the Republicans thank us for enabling them to conveniently secure a copy of the best campaign document for their side of the contest. Such mutual recognition of gratefulness by opponents, coupled with self-consciousness of duty performed on its part, ought to make the Record-Union greatly contented with itself. But, nevertheless, the thought will intrude itself, that commendation for fairness must, in such cases, rest upon the previous assumption that it was not to be expected.

THE CITY FATHERS.

Protests Against Street Work—Reports of Officers.

The Board of City Trustees met in regular session yesterday morning, Mayor Gregory presiding. The Chief Engineer of the water works, E. H. Williams, reported 3,831,000 gallons of water consumed during the previous week. The Holy pump was in operation 112 hours and the Stevens pump 134 hours. The Board ordered warrants drawn to pay the costs in the suits of Stanford vs. Ryan and Seares vs. Ryan, amounting to $124.40.

Chief of Police Lee made the following report of business in his office for the month of July. Number of arrests made, 227; lodgers accommodated, 19; meals provided, 1,147; each on hand at report, $12.45; received during the month, $7.25; total, $20.70; disbursed during the month, $15.40; balance on hand, $5.30.

Two petitions were received from property owners on K street, from the Fourteenth to Sixteenth, strongly protesting against the proposed grading of that street. It is less than two years' experience, "since the street was graded, that it is a poor, expensive, and is now in excellent condition. We regard the proposed work in the interests of street contractors and gravel-pit owners than of those who will be compelled to foot the bills."

Street Commissioner Ryan said that the blocks were low and in bad condition, and should be improved. The petitions were referred to him on motion of Mayor Gregory.

Before the adjournment of the Board Mr. Ryan stated that the property owners of the intersection of K and L streets had defeated the work. He said that they were standing in their own light. An order was then made discontinuing the work.

Another protest was received from property owners against the proposed improvement of the intersection of K and L streets, upon the ground that a few years ago L street at that point was graded; that that intersection was fully graded, and that it is the duty of the city to keep the same in repair; that the contractor has raised a pole on the street intersection; that his demand for the same is exorbitant and without reason; that he is charging for much that has long since been paid for by the petitioners, and that it is the duty of the Board to protect them from such extortion. The Board issued an invitation to the property owners to appear at the next meeting and rehearse their grievances.

The Board ordered that the petitioners appear before it next Monday and answer to numerous complaints made in regard to the manner in which he is performing his duties.
